WILL ASK REMOVAL OF THE MAYOR

Petitions Will be Filed With Governor Harmon Today or Tomorrow

COLUMBUS BUSINESS MEN

Charge Mayor Marshall With Malfeasance and Misfeasance of Office.

Columbus, Sept. 16.—Petitions asking for the removal of Mayor George S. Marshall on charges of malfeasance and misfeasance probably will be filed with Governor Harmon today or tomorrow, according to predictions made yesterday. The petitions are said to be numerous and generously signed by business men. South Side organizations are said to be back of the movement.

Representatives of citizens interested called on the Governor yesterday morning. It became known after the conference that petitions would be filed, possibly accompanied by affidavits calculated to substantiate the charges made in the petition.

The charges are said to be based on the conduct of the mayor during his personal management of the police department during the car strike and immediately prior to its beginning. The filing of the petition will be the culmination of a movement which has been under way for five weeks.

One specific charge is said to be that the mayor prevented the police from affording the property of the Columbus Railway and Light company proper protection during the early stages of the strike.

Affidavits may be filed, it is said, by former members of the police department, and employes of the railway company to show that the mayor influenced the police to favor strike sympathizers and meet every incident of misconduct on the part of Columbus Railway and Light company employes with the most drastic action.

Information held by those backing the movement, is declared to show that when police squads were dispatched to scenes of rioting, few if any arrests were made among strike sympathizers, while employes of the company were relentlessly pursued, arrested and prosecuted.

Demoralization of the police department is said to be another feature of the charges in preparation. Affidavits will be produced, it was said yesterday, that Mayor Marshall told policemen that he would never order them on cars involved in the strike and later that he said if such a step would become necessary he would give them warning in order that they could withdraw from the department with honor.

Marshall's participation in the arrest and detention of a Panhandle shop workman, suspected of throwing acid at a car, although there was little to support the suspicion, and others, held for investigation, is also included in the charges.

No man, interested in any way in the liquor business, will appear as a signer of the petition, those having them in charge say. The mutinous policemen, though they may furnish some of the evidence, will be barred from signing the petition.

The action in barring signatures was taken as a precaution against the possible charge that personal animus was behind the petitions.

Former Marshall adherents are said to be generously represented in the several petitions now about ready for filing.

It is pointed out by those behind the movement that unless the mayor had an ulterior motive, he could trust the management of the department to its regularly constituted head, which is costing the city $2,100 a year for services, not as a mere clerical adjunct or district policeman, but as executive officer of the department.

Regarding the petitions, Frederich

BRYAN COMMENDS ROOSEVELT'S ACTION

Lincoln, Neb., Sept. 16. — In the current issue of the Commoner Bryan commends Roosevelt's action regarding Lorimer and the Harrison Club dinner. He says it is high time some one should take the stand that corrupt politicians should not be considered social equals of honest men. In another article Bryan attacks Mr. Roosevelt in a mild way for doing nothing to help La Follette in Wisconsin. He says it looks queer for the men who aspire to lead the insurgents to do absolutely nothing to aid the oldest and most consistent insurgent of them all.

WILL PRESIDENT BE CANDIDATE FOR A RENOMINATION?

New York, Sept. 16—Confirming yesterday's United Press exclusive story the Times here prints the following from its special correspondent at Beverly, Mass.:

"I am not thinking of 1912. In fact I don't think I care for a renomination. From the way things are drifting I think that no Republican can be elected, save possibly one." From a trustworthy source the Times learns that President Taft made this statement several weeks ago to a friend, and from an entirely different source that Taft made practically the same remark to another friend later."

The article further says that these remarks have been repeated lately until they are almost common property.

The President to date has little interest in 1912. His chief concern has been to fulfil the party pledges during his present term. It is no secret, however, that he is discouraged. All the party leaders have told him that the next House will be Democratic.

Paris, Sept. 16.—A local paper is running a series of articles on the mentality of the Kaiser. The articles were started by his recent declaration that the right of kings was God-given. Most of the opinions submitted are that he is insane.

WILL ATTEMPT DIFFICULT FEAT

Niagara Falls, N. Y., Sept. 16—Captain Klaus Larsen of Cleveland, is today giving the final tests to the little motor boat "Ferro" in which he will attempt tomorrow to navigate the Niagara Rapids, and the deadly whirlpool. Larsen will begin his perilous trip Saturday afternoon, setting out from the Maid of the Mist landing, directly in front of the American Falls. In today's tests the "Ferro" engines worked perfectly.

DENY OTHER INDICTMENTS

Chicago, Ill., Sept. 16.—A new angle in the subtreasury theft case appeared today when two of the jurors who indicted Fitzgerald said that another man had been indicted at the same time. The prosecutor's office denies that more than one indictment was returned. Stories of a beautiful woman who wined and dined with Fitzgerald are hotly denied by himself and his wife.

EXPECT RESULTS FROM FITZPATRICK

Princeton, N. J., Sept. 16.—Princeton football men are already counting as one of their biggest assets this year, the association of Trainer Keene Fitzpatrick, formerly of Michigan. From the way he has taken hold of the squad which had its first practice yesterday afternoon, it is evident that Princeton will at least put a well conditioned team in the field. Fitzpatrick says the thing he will work hardest against is the overtraining of the men.

MARY MANNERING STRICKEN WITH APPENDICITIS AT REHEARSAL

MARY MANNERING

New York, Sept. 16.—Miss Mary Mannering, the actress, is said to be seriously ill at Roosevelt hospital, in this city, to which place she was removed after a rehearsal earlier in the week. Her illness is attributed to appendicitis, for which an operation was performed immediately after her admittance to the institution. Miss Mannering was preparing to play the leading role in "A Man's World," with the Shuberts managing the production. Miss Mannering, who is the divorced wife of James K. Hackett, the actor, has held a conspicuous place on the stage for several years. She was born in London April 28, 1876, and made her debut in "Hero and Leander." She appeared in Shakespearean roles in the British provinces when she was eighteen. In 1896 she appeared in "The Courtship of Leonie" at the Lyceum theater in this city. She and Hackett were married in May, 1907, but the marriage was kept secret until the following January. She separated from Hackett three years ago and brought suit for divorce.

New York, Sept. 16.—George J. Gould, who returned from Europe recently with his family, is optimistic of the prosperity of the nation. He declares that the present flatness of the market is due to the present political situation. He says that the people of Europe are watching the Supreme Court for decisions affecting business life. He thinks that the railroads of this country should be allowed to increase their rates because of the increased cost of operation. In an interview he said: "I believe the underlying basis of business is encouraging, and that the volume of business will increase. Prosperity will not desert us. We will go on prospering in spite of our political flurries." Mr. Gould was accompanied by Mrs. Gould, Miss Vivian, George J., Jr., little Miss Gloria Gould, the baby of the family, and Mrs. Anthony Drexel. Kingdon Gould met them at the pier.

EXPERTS TESTIFY IN TRIAL

DEFENDANT IS HOPEFUL

American Lawyers in London Claim Prosecution Has Very Weak Case.

London, Sept. 16. — "The person believed to have been Mrs. Belle Elmore Crippen met death through the administering of a dose of hyoscin. This dose, while somewhat more than the amount required for fatal results, indicates expert judgment in preparing the dose."

This was the testimony today of Dr. W. H. Willcox, analysist for the home office and first definite statement of the cause of death brought out at the hearing of Dr. Crippen.

Under questions from Travers Humphreys, representing the crown, Willcox said the poison was administered through the mouth, rather than by injection, and that the amount taken barely exceeded half a grain.

"I do not find any other cause of death except this poison," Willcox said. "I am satisfied that death followed within an hour of the administering of the poison."

Willcox examined five jars of the remains of the body found under the cellar floor of Dr. Crippen's home, in which he discovered approximately two-sevenths of a grain of hyoscin. The whole amount of poison used, he declared, undoubtely exceeded half a grain.

London, Sept. 16.—Two more of the government's witnesses in the Dr. H. H. Crippen murder hearing admitted on the stand today that they were unable to determine definitely the sex of the body supposed to be that of Belle Elmore Crippen.

Dr. W. H. Willson, the home office analyst, testified that the character and position of the organs submitted to him proved that they were from a human body and that "probably the body was that of a female."

B. H. Spilsbury, one of the leading pathologists of London, would not go even this far, frankly admitting that he was unable to determine the sex from a microscopic study of the remains.

The testimony of these experts was considered another big boost for the defense of Crippen and taken in connection with the collapse of the testimony of Dr. Pepper last Wednesday, is believed to foreshadow the government's inability to prove to the satisfaction of any jury that the body found in the cellar of Dr. Crippen's home was that of a woman.

If the sex of the body is so hard to determine, how can the prosecution hope to prove the far more difficult proposition that it was that of Dr. Crippen's wife is the question that is now being asked by the thousands of persons who are following the developments of the case with more eagerness than ever before shown in a London murder mystery.

Willcox testified that he analyzed specimens of the soil where the body was found and also the carbolic powder and sanitary fluid used by the morgue keeper on the remains. He applied the recognized tests for prussic acid, arsenic and mineral poisons but found nothing but arsenic and hyoscin. The presence of arsenic, he said, probably was due to the carbolic powder used, as it contained arsenic. The sanitary fluid did not contain any alkaloids, Willcox said.

The piece of a pajama jacket found in the grave was of the same material Willcox testified, as pajamas from Mrs. Crippen's wardrobe. The difference in color in the two was attributed to the action of the soil on the fragment in the grave.

Once more Solicitor Newton for the defense brought out the fact that the material from which the pajamas were made was of a common quality, such as is frequently used in such garments.

Willcox made another point in favor of the defense when he said it was impossible to determine how long the body had lain under the cellar floor before discovered Owing to the

EX-MATRON MAKES SERIOUS CHARGES

New York, Sept. 16.—That girl prisoners in the Queens county jail have been assaulted by jail officials and men prisoners is the startling charge of Miss Mary Donnelly, at one time jail matron there. She claims she was discharged three years ago for trying to protect the women in her department. She says reformation was impossible for any girl sent there.

COBBLERS PRACTICALLY CINCH THE PENNANT

Lancaster, Sept. 16.—Riehl started to pitch yesterday's game before Dunnick arrived and Portsmouth made enough runs off two hits and two errors to win the game. Blake and Breen pulled off sensational catches. Portsmouth will only have to win one more game out of the remaining four to be played here to cinch the pennant. Score:

Portsmouth	5	10	4
Lancaster	1	9	2

Batteries: Moore and Weinburg; Riehl, Dunnick and Ruff. Umpire: Phelan.

BATTING RALLY SHORT LIVED.

Lima, Sept. 16.—The Beans connected for a victory here yesterday against the Chillicothe Babes in the closing series. The visitors had a batting rally in the eighth and ninth but did not quite reach. Score:

Chillicothe	3	8	5

Behind the Screen

That was some drubbing the Diggers handed out to Newark yesterday, but little good it will do them. Marion lost the pennant on her recent road trip. When she left home the Lewis gang leading the league but they took only three out of twelve games on the road and then hit third place. They won't finish ahead of Lima, depesters say.

The teams will just about finish the way they stand now, for but three more games remain to be played. Portsmouth will have the pennant next season and local fans are glad. So it's congratulations to Pete Childs and his batting Cobblers and the enthusiastic sport writers of the River City who have been in a great measure one of the principal factors in the flag chase.

Newark had six errors and Braden passed six. No wonder we lost by work of that sort. Besides that the gang couldn't hit Lewis who worked in great style.

Heine Peitz is said to be after the Zanesville franchise. He is being backed by Owner Grayson of the Louisville club.

The sport writer of the Mansfield Shield said the State league season closed Wednesday. Not yet, but soon, for but three more days remain.

Manager Hank O'Day is ill of pleurisy and he is out of the game. 1910 has been an unlucky season for Hank in more ways than one for he has been sick or out of the game with injuries the most of the time.

Wednesday's farewell contest marked the closing of an unsuccessful season with Newark. Of the 28 games played with the Molders this year only 11 winners and of these but 4 were copped on the local lot. Since the advent of Hank O'Day the Babes haven't won a game, the Newarkians cleaning up on the last three series, something no other club in the league has accomplished.—Chillicothe Gazette.

The Lima team is going to do a little barnstorming at the close of the season. Games are being arranged in Findlay, Kenton, Wapakoneta, Celine, St. Mary's and several other small cities.

By winning the second game of a double-header Thursday, South Bend cinched the Central league pennant for 1910. The others have no chance to catch South Bend now. Quincy, Ills., has cinched the pennant in the Central association race.

The local club received two $500 checks Monday morning covering the drafts of Walter Miller and Henry Breen, who go to Brooklyn Portsmouth Blade.

CLOSE RACE FOR SECOND PLACE

New York, Sept. 16.—With the fight for the pennant settled in each of the big leagues, the National and American are doing the next best thing—putting up a lively scrap for second place. New York is only nine points behind Pittsburg for the position of runner-up in the National, while New York and Boston are neck and neck for second place in the American, with Detroit only one point behind.

The Pittsburg champions are fighting tooth and nail to keep from being overhauled, but Detroit, having a long home season at hand, is generally picked to finish second in the American.

A Cup of Sugar.

A large china cup with a handle was shoved across the counter and a child voice said, "Ma wants a cupful o sugar."

The grocer filled the cup, weighed the sugar, poured it back into the cup and said, "Two cents."

To a customer who expressed surprise at his willingness to sell groceries in such small quantities he said:

"Have to in this neighborhood. Most of these people live from meal to meal which means that they buy things by measure instead of weight. Reckoned by the cupful, the spoonful or the pail ful, they know just how much of any thing they need. In order to satisfy both customers and the inspector of weights and measures we measure first to suit the trade, then weigh afterward."—New York Sun.

The value of vanadhum in a steel alloy lies in the fact that it removes oxygen and nitrogen, unites with the iron and forms carbides that increase the strength of the steel.

SKIN DISEASES

HUMORS IN THE BLOOD

Nature has made ample provision in the moisture and sunshine of the air for the outward protection and healthy condition of the skin. But the more important work of nourishing the cuticle has been left to an inward source—the blood. It is from the circulation that the pores and glands receive their stimulus, and the fibrous tissues are all preserved in a healthful state because of constant nutriment supplied by the blood. It is only when the circulation becomes infected with humors or acids that we are troubled with skin affections. The humors producing these troubles are carried through the circulation direct to the skin, and their irritating or inflammatory effect remains until the blood is cleansed. S. S. S. cures Skin Diseases, because it is the greatest of all blood purifiers. It goes into the circulation and REMOVES the acids and humors which are causing the trouble, builds up the weak, acrid blood, and completely cures Eczema, Acne, Tetter, Salt Rheum, pimples, rashes, and all eruptions of the skin. When S.S.S. has driven out the humors every symptom passes away, the skin is again nourished with cooling, healthful blood, natural evaporation is renewed, and the skin becomes soft and smooth. Chicago, Sept. 16.—Because the younger brothers of Johnny Evers and Artie Hofman of the Cubs played ball at Ottumwa, Iowa, on the recent trip of the team, President Lynch of the Ottumwa club is asking for damages against President Murphy.

Lynch declares in a statement to the national commission that Murphy promised to send the best team he could muster, and instead palmed off two "phoneys" who gave such a miserable exhibition of the game that even the 10 to 1 score piled up against the Cubs did not satisfy the fans.

President Lynch declared that young Evers and Hofman masqueraded as their famous brothers, even to signing their names on the hotel registers.

WILL ASK REMOVAL

Schueler, 527 South High street, who is a leader in the movement to secure Marshall's removal, said yesterday, in summing up the status of the case.

"Representative business men and Germans of the South Side are circulating petitions asking Governor Harmon to remove Mayor Marshall for misfeasance and malfeasance. So as not to prejudice the case which will be made against the mayor, liquor men and saloonous policemen have not been permitted to sign petitions. They may not file affidavits with the governor to substantiate formal charges which will be filed.

"The petitions and affidavits are being withheld for a few days, while the case against the mayor is being perfected. The men backing the movement want to obtain every scrap of testimony available.

"Men interested in the movement saw the governor yesterday morning, but I cannot say who they were.

"The specific charges will be serious ones, but I cannot say what they will be."

Efforts to gain information, concerning the petitions from other Germans yesterday, resulted in the inquirers being referred to Schoeler.

Under the law Governor Harmon must grant a hearing any time within 10 days after the filing of charges. Copies of the charges must be delivered to the accused in order that he may prepare a defense. The mayor may be suspended for 30 days at the discretion of the governor, pending the outcome of the trial. If satisfied that the evidence justifies it the governor can remove the mayor.

Should Marshall be removed, President David T. Logan of the city council would succeed him.

"Nothing has been done by me or the chamber of commerce in regard to Mayor Marshall's letter, and I don't know how soon it will be taken up," said C. J. Pretzman last night, when asked if he had replied to the mayor's letter of Wednesday, requesting that a meeting of the chamber of commerce be called to consider the settlement of the strike by arbitration.

"No official attention has been paid to it," he added. Mr. Pretzman intimated that the mayor's request had been practically dropped.

W. E. Guerin of Sandusky, who as a Republican member of the house of representatives, led in the unsuccessful effort several years ago to obtain a compulsory arbitration law for street railroads, in an interview yesterday sustained Governor Harmon in refusing to call a special session of the general assembly as requested by Mayor Marshall. Guerin said that the mayor in now demanding compulsory arbitration, was asking for something he can not get.

Without an amendment to the constitution Guerin said such a measure could not be enforced.

The Wednesday afternoon Sewing club was entertained on the club day by Miss Bertha Fulton at her home in West Church street. After a few hours spent pleasantly in sewing, dainty refreshments were served the members and following guests Misses Marjory and Frances Collins, Marian Wright and Mrs. Fulton Van Voorhis of Granville.

One of the prettiest of fall receptions was given Mrs. Fenwick Ewing at her home in the Granville road on Thursday afternoon. The guests honored by the event were Miss Catherine Courtney of Mobile Alabama, who is the house guest of Mrs Fenwick Ewing, and Mrs H. W. Miller of Columbus who is the guest of Mrs Hugh Ewing.

Receiving with Mrs Ewing were her two honor guests and the aids of the hostess were Mrs. Hugh Ewing, Miss Penny of Granville Mrs. C. Harrington Davis Mrs. H. H. Scott, and Mrs. Edward Browne.

The decorations were of flowers and were exceedingly beautiful. The parlor and hall were banked with golden rod in profusion, the color scheme in these two rooms being of yellow. The den and library were arranged in the color effect of red and white, red geraniums, salvia and clematis being used.

Especially attractive was the dining room, it being a delightful floral bower in every nook and cranny was festooned and clustered fall flowers, massed in color and profusion.

In the dining room Mrs Charles Montgomery served the cafe and Mrs J. J. Carroll the tea. Their assistants were Misse Frances Wright, [illegible] Helen Wright and Marion Wright. During the hour about seventy five guests were present.

Miss Helen Geneve Prosser, daughter of Mr and Mrs. W. W. Prosser of East Long street, has returned from a week's visit with Miss Ruth Wintermuth in Newark. While there she was honored guest at several informal affairs. Miss Wintermute entertained at luncheon and with a dinner party in her favor.

Miss Helen Chare gave a dinner party of 14 covers in courtesy to Miss Prosser. Mrs. J. A. Swisher entertained with an automobile party of Little Problems of The Home.

A Wife Who Has Nerves.

A certain hard-working husband is almost distracted over the problem of a wife who has "nerves." This is an ailment that certainly is one of the greatest calamities that can befall a home. Poverty, ordinary sickness, disgrace even, can be borne more heroically than an exasperating case of "nerves." With most misfortunes, there is hope always that in time relief of some kind will come, or at least the sting blunted. But the burden of a wife with nerves grows heavier with the years.

This husband works hard from 8 in the morning until 6 at night, in a gloomy, unhealthy office. His wages are none too large. He returns home at night to find a wife in tears, or in bed, or just feeling so miserable she does not know what to do. Part of the time he gets his own meals; part of the time they get their meals out; part of the time a procession of maids of various kinds and capacities passes through the house. He never knows from one day to another just what to expect. To be sure, there is no deadly monotony in his life, but this is hardly the kind of variety that lends spice.

He has spent more than he can afford upon doctors, sanatoriums, trips—upon all sorts of things warranted to cure nerves. But all to no effect. His wife is just about where she was years ago. And the hopeless treadmill for him goes on. The only time she braced up, took an interest in affairs and played her part as a wife should, was when he had pneumonia. She looked after the house then, helped nurse and her nerves took a vacation. But it is rather hard on him to go through the list of all the ills that flesh is heir to in order to keep her well. While enjoying a case of typhoid for her benefit, he might accidentally die. He hopes to find some other way to cure her.

But in this better health of hers during his illness, does there not lie the suggestion for her cure? During his sickness, she was carried out of herself. She forgot to think of her own ills. All her thoughts were for him. Now, if he could find some pleasanter way than being ill, to distract her thoughts from herself, no doubt she would be well. Her housework does not sufficiently absorb her to do this. She wants some interest that will take hold of her completely.

The husband of one woman who was suffering from nerves moved out into the country and started to raise chickens. He did not give up his work in the city, but he diplomatically got his wife to do this and that about the chickens for him while he was away. Soon she became interested in them. He added gradually to her duties, and in a little while she had a prosperous chicken farm and was a sound, healthy woman.

If this man would find out the work his wife likes best to do, and then plan so she could do it, it might work a cure. Let her take a position in an office, or a store, at dressmaking, at anything, whatever it might be, that would absorb her. Lack of an interest in life is really at the root of her "nerves." She sits idle most of the time and thinks about herself. This would drive almost anyone to an asylum. She doesn't care much for reading. She doesn't like housework. But there is some one thing undoubtedly which she does enjoy doing. If the husband will find this out and set her at it, he will soon discover that her "nerves" have disappeared.

It is quite possible, too, that he is too good to her. He shoulders all the burden. He humors her every caprice. If he would storm about a bit, as to the sort of home she was giving a hard-working man, hint even, perhaps, that there were other women in the world, she might brace up, think she had better look lively, or she might lose him and find herself better. It would seem a cruel thing for him to do, but it is a case where she needs to be jolted out of her self-absorption. She is a woman of spirit and ability when she is aroused, as was shown in the case of his sickness. But it takes big things to arouse her. This method would probably be harder for him than to have a case of typhoid or smallpox for her sake. Finding something for her to do would be easier. But it must be no trifling thing. A big absorbing work, or a big, absorbing anxiety is needed to work a cure.

REGULAR MEETING OF DEMOCRATIC CLUB

The regular meeting of the Licking County Democratic Club will be held Friday evening, September 16, at 7:30 o'clock.

This meeting will be an open one and all Democrats, whether members or not, are invited and urged to be present.

DOOMED SENATORS.

The members of the Old Guard Republican Stand-patters in the United States Senate are going one by one in rapid succession. After Hale, of Maine, goes Kean of New Jersey, who imagined a little while ago that he held his seat by an indefensible title. The Insurgents of his state have already practically dethroned him, even though the state should not go Democratic, which seems inevitable. Then there is Ballinger's man, Senator Piles, of Washington, whom Mr. Poindexter defeated at the Republican primaries by 40,000 majority on Tuesday. Several more are doomed at the November elections of the country. Conspicuous among the doomed is one Charles Dick, of Ohio, who claims his nomination at a primary election that gave him just one-fourth of his party's vote, and who, today, could not receive more than one-fourth of the popular vote of the State, were the Senator to be elected by the people.

POLITICS OF COLUMBUS STRIKE

It does seem strange that the Republican politicians can make so much "political thunder" out of the Columbus strike because they think they have a chance to unload on a Democratic governor, who has been fair and impartial in the performance of his sworn duty, while at the same time they maintain a profound silence about the Republican officials whose acts have been unfavorable to the strikers.

There are the mayor, the chief of police, the sheriff, the common pleas judge, the police judge, the treasurer of Mr. Harding's campaign committee, and even an ex-president of the United States, all saying or doing things unfriendly to the strikers, and all are Republicans.

There is not another Democratic official on the whole line except the governor, and he is the only official who has been absolutely fair and impartial to both sides.

Fair minded citizens of Ohio will resent the malevolent efforts of the scheming Republican bosses who are trying to make a goat of Governor Harmon for doing his sworn duty without fear or favor.

When the truth is fully known and understood Governor Harmon's official conduct throughout the troubled conditions at Columbus will win for him increased approval that will be recorded at the ballot box in November.

And when the workingmen of the state get a clear and unbiased view of all the circumstances they will find that Governor Harmon has been their friend instead of their enemy.

It is to the advantage of the scheming g. o. p. tricksters to poison the minds of workingmen against Governor Harmon, if by that means they could accomplish his defeat. After that they will have no more care or consideration for workingmen and labor organizations than they had after the election of "the father of injunctions" for president two years ago until the beginning of this campaign. Let every workingman in Ohio keep this in mind when asked to "beat Harmon"—to please President Taft.

The regular Republican organs could not see much sign of a political change in the Vermont election. But their vision must have cleared greatly when they scanned the returns from Maine.

It must be apparent to even the dullest man who takes the time to think that the cost of government is a direct charge upon the resources of the governed. It is a material part of the cost of living. Now that the cost of living is steadily increasing from year to year at a far faster pace than the increase of earnings from the employment of either labor or capital, it becomes a matter of urgency to ascertain the cause and to find suitable remedy.

The Democratic victory in Maine cannot be compared with any other previous political event that has occurred since the g. o. p. came into existence, 55 years ago.

Ex-Sheriff Redman objects to the Advocate's statement of last evening that he "never recaptured" the seven prisoners that broke away from the jail on October 3, 1906. As we understand Mr. Redman, he claims that some of them were subsequently recaptured by police in other cities and that he paid the reward which he offered at the time of their escape. This is probably true and he is entitled to the credit for it. The Advocate disclaims any disposition to be unfair toward Mr. Redman, but the fact remains that on the morning of October 3, 1906, eight prisoners broke jail and got away, though the ex-sheriff doubtless made every effort in his power to recapture them.

Insurgency is sweeping the Pacific coast as it has swept the Middle West. Miles Poindexter, leading Insurgent in the House, carried every county in the State of Washington at the primary for United States Senator, piling up a plurality of 40,000. Poindexter defeats Senator Piles, who is a special champion of Secretary Ballinger.

Are not matters becoming very discouraging for the Republican managers when President Taft is seriously talking of declining to be a candidate for re-election in 1912?

COMMUNICATED

Editor Advocate: The writer has witnessed your efforts for non-partisan control of the city's light and water plants with much interest. But that your suggestions have been turned down, and what has occurred, especially the appointment of W. C. Christian for Service Director, is no surprise. If the Mayor had wanted to do a real non-partisan act and at the same time consult the best interests of the people, he would have appointed Mr. E. L. Weisgerber for Service Director.

Then the city would not only have had a man thoroughly competent and with special knowledge of all that pertains to the light and water plants, but a man who has not been mixed up in the contentions of our local politics, as W. C. Christian has been for the past few years. Mr. Weisgerber's appointment would have been much nearer non-partisan and the city would have had a man much better fitted by mechanical knowledge and business experience.

JUSTICE.

GOV. HARMON

Refuses to Cut State Duties for Campaign Engagements.

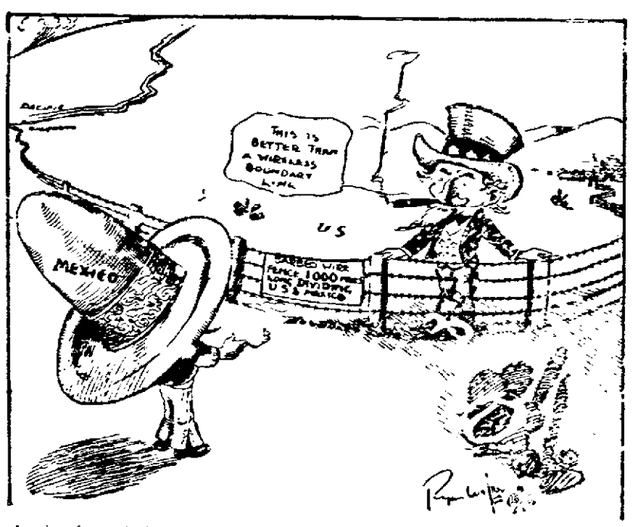

Columbus, Sept. 16.—Beyond certain obligations made during the summer to attend county fairs and soldiers' reunions, Governor Judson Harmon has made no agreements to deliver addresses. His time after the opening of the campaign on Sept. 27 has been placed at the disposal of Chairman Hugh Nichols of the state executive committee, with one important qualification—that his engagements must be so arranged as to give him full time to attend to the duties of his office.

Today he said that in all probability he would give less time to the work of campaigning than he did in 1908. On this account he will make this city the center of his operations, making short trips to the various sections of the state to which he has been assigned.

Chairman Nichols has not yet mapped out any routes, but is at work on tentative schedules. Many requests are flowing in from all sections of the state, and it is going to be a difficult matter to even respond to one half of them. There is a strong demand from the agricultural sections for his presence.

"CONSCIENCE" MONEY PAID WATER COMPANY

Mr. Wm. A. Veach, who is closing up the business of the Newark Water Company, preparatory to turning the property over to the city, reports that he is in receipt of two ten-dollar bills, which have been deposited to the company's credit. As the sender is unknown, Mr. Veach can give no receipt, but acknowledges the remittance by giving out the following note for publication:

Newark Water Works Co.:

Dear Sir: Enclosed find twenty ($20.00) dollars, for which please credit on a debt which I have neglected and beat you out of, and oblige. ——————, City.

N. B.—This is conscience money. This is meant for the old company.

Mr. Veach is, of course, unable to tell who sent the money and does not know what it was intended to pay for, but assumes that it was intended to pay a just account.

Mr. Veach desires to express his thanks to the unknown citizen, and to say that as there may be other accounts of the same kind, he will be glad to hear from any who may feel like following the example just cited.

CATARRH GERMS

Move Out When Hyomei Moves In.

No stomach dosing. Hyomei (pronounced High-o-me) is made from the highest grade of eucalyptus, taken from the eucalyptus forests of inland Australia, and combined with the excellent antiseptics employed in the Listerian system.

In inland Australia the atmosphere is so impregnated with balsam thrown out by the eucalyptus tree that germs cannot live, and in consequence catarrh and consumption are unknown.

Breathe HYOMEI and get the very same, pleasant, healing, germ-killing air as you would get in the eucalyptus forests and kill the germs.

HYOMEI is sold by Evans' Drug Store and druggists everywhere at $1.00 a complete outfit.

An outfits consists of a bottle of HYOMEI, a hard rubber pocket inhaler and simple instructions for use. The inhaler will last a lifetime, but bear in mind if you need another bottle of HYOMEI you can get it at druggists for only 50 cents. Guaranteed to cure catarrh, croup and throat troubles, or money back. Arial samples of Hyimei free to readers of the Advocate. Address Booth's Hyomei Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

OBITUARY

MISS ALICE SCHALLER.

Miss Alice Schaller, after suffering for the past six months with a complication of diseases, was forced by the grim reaper to give up her battle for life, and she passed into that sweet and peaceful slumber which alleviates all pain.

Miss Schaller was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Schaller, and was born in this city thirty-four years ago. She resided here the greater part of her life, with the exception of a few years spent in Cincinnati where she conducted a millinery establishment with her mother.

Miss Schaller was taken sick at Anderson, Ind., last April, and left there for Rushville, Ind., staying there with a sister, Mrs. Wade Sherman, until four weeks ago, when she came to this city, making her home with her mother at the corner of Fifth and West Main street.

Although everything was done that loving hands could do Miss Schaller passed away at 5:30 o'clock Thursday evening. She leaves besides her mother, three brothers, Ambrose, Charles and Edward, of this city, and three sisters, Mrs. Wade Sherman, of Rushville, Ind., Mrs. J. N. Barbee, of east of the city, and Mrs. Frank Krack, of Marion.

The funeral will occur Saturday morning at 8:30 o'clock from the St. Francis de Sales Church, and interment will be made in Mount Calvary Cemetery.

FRANKLIN JOSIAH BRACKETT.

Franklin Josiah Brackett died at his home, corner Hoover and Eddy streets, Thursday night at 11:30 o'clock, after an illness of some time with ailments incident to advanced age, he being 74 years old. The deceased was an old soldier, having served faithfully in the civil war.

The funeral services will be held Sunday and the body will be taken to Fredonia for interment. Mr. Brackett is survived by his widow and two sons and three daughters. The children are Clarence of Terre Haute, Ind.; Edward of California; Mrs. Belle Grove of California; Mrs. Sadie Morgan of Columbus, and Mrs. Susan Inscho of this city.

CAPT. CHARLES SINNETT.

The Cherryville, Kan., Daily Paper contains the following account of the death of Capt. Charles Sinnett, a brother of the late Dr. Edwin Sinnett of Granville:

The funeral of Capt. Charles Sinnett, who died Sunday, Sept. 4, at 12:30 p. m., was held from the residence of his son, G. H. Sinnett, 506 East Sixth street, at 3:30 this afternoon, conducted by his pastor, the Rev. W. W. Searcy of the Baptist church, assisted by the Rev. F. O. Woestemeyer of the Presbyterian church.

Mr. Sinnett was born in Granville, O., and had he lived until Feb. 28 next he would have been 80 years old. He had been in poor health all summer and the past ten days was confined to his bed. His only other child, A. A. Sinnett, came last week from Harper, Okla., to be with his father. The deceased's wife preceded him to the grave nearly eight years. All his brothers and sisters likewise had gone before.

Captain Sinnett, as he was best known, came to Kansas in 1886 and lived in Olathe until five years ago. In the civil war he was captain of the 113th Ohio Volunteers. He was an enthusiastic Grand Army worker, one of his last labors being the compilation of a list of soldiers, together with the location of their graves, buried in Fairview. Now it remains for another to mark the captain's grave.

Mr. Sinnett was a kind, Christian man, who remained charitable to the end. He was a regular attendant at church and exemplified the faith he professed in everyday life.

At the grave this afternoon, Hackleman Post, No. 142, G. A. R., of which the deceased was a member, conducted services.

EXPERTS

peculiar nature of the soil where the body was found, he testified. "It may have lain there for several years and the organs still have been well preserved."

This supports the theory that the defense may adopt; that the body was placed under the cellar floor before Crippen moved into the Hilldrop Crescent house, which was less than a year ago.

The effort of the prosecution to prove that the scar found on the remains was similar to a scar on Mrs. Crippen is meeting with constant obstacles. Dr. Spilsbury said today that the mark in question was undoubtedly a scar, but that the white line characteristic of most scars was unobservable, probably due to the fact that the remains were badly decayed. Abdominal operations such as would have produced the scar, Spilsbury testified, were common to both sexes. In his opinion the scar had been stretched.

Dr. Willcox said he had made a careful examination of five jars of the remains and that while he believes that they were of a woman he could not swear to this. Willcox also said the scar was an old one.

Crippen and Miss Clare Leneve who is accused of being an accessory after the fact in the murder of Mrs. Crippen, plainly showed their satisfaction at the testimony of Spilsbury and Willcox.

Crippen was even more buoyant than on Wednesday and Miss Leneve seemed to have rid herself of the fearful depression that she manifested in her previous appearance.

The prisoners sat close together but were not allowed to converse.

Regardless of the weakness of the prosecution's case it is conceded that Crippen will be found over to the grand jury and that in all probability he will be indicted. Preliminary hearings are more of a formality in England than in America, and almost invariably result in the judge passing the case to a higher court.

Several American lawyers in England who have followed the case, declare that the evidence so far brought out would not suffice to bind Crippen to the grand jury were the hearing in America.

THE PAINS OF RHEUMATISM

Caused by a Poison Which Produces Inflammation.

How a Pennsylvania Woman Cured Herself by Building Up and Purifying the Blood.

The pains of rheumatism are caused by a poison in the blood setting up an inflammation in the delicate membranes that cover the joints and muscles.

The exact cause of rheumatism is one of the things that the science of medicine has not yet determined but it is a known fact that the seat of the trouble is in the blood and that the disease must be combated in the blood. Unless the poison is driven out the disease will return at every exposure to cold or dampness.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have cured hundreds of cases, and are the most direct treatment of rheumatism, because they enrich the thin blood and enable it to throw off the poisons of the disease. When this is done the rheumatism is permanently cured and as long as the blood is kept pure and rich the patient will be immune from attacks of rheumatism.

Mrs. Charles Day, of Tionesta, Warren Co., Pa., was crippled with rheumatism for several months and owes her health to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. She says:

"I was taken very suddenly with rheumatism which I first noticed as a pain in my right knee. The pain went down to my ankle and soon knee would be in both knees, causing them to swell, and I was so sure that I could not move without the greatest agony. My hands were drawn up so that they were useless and it seemed as though every joint in my body was affected. I was in bed nearly all winter and was entirely helpless.

"For two months I was under a doctor's care without his medicine doing me any good. I then tried liniments and various medicines but received no help. After four months of suffering I decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and felt much better before I had taken many boxes. I continued the treatment and was soon able to walk around and do my work. I feel it my duty to tell others what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills did for me."

For further information about the treatment of rheumatism send for a copy of our booklet, "Diseases of the Blood."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or will be sent, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box; six boxes for $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—

The Boy and The Melon

He Took Out His Knife

"COME, chickadees," said daddy as he glanced at the clock—"it's time for that bedtime story." And this is what he told them:

"There was once a little colored boy named Rastus, who was so fond of watermelon that he wanted it for breakfast, dinner and supper, and he always took a large piece to bed with him, so that if he awoke in the night he could have some of his favorite dish. He finally got so fat and lazy that his father said he must eat no more watermelon.

"Well, Rastus was very angry, and for a week or two he just sat around and would not talk to any one. At last he decided to run away from home, and one moonlight night he quietly slipped out of the house and started off. He was going across the fields when he came to a watermelon patch, and what were his surprise and joy to see a melon almost as large as a house. Of course he could not resist tasting it, and he took out his knife and cut a hole in the very center of it. My, but what a feast he did have! And suddenly an idea occurred to him.

"So he made a door in it and crawled in, and there he lived very happily for a time, only coming out for a little walk occasionally. One day some men came into the field and looked the big watermelon over, but as Rastus was inside with the door shut they did not know that it was the home of a little colored fellow. Said one:

"'Isn't it a beauty? We will surely win the prize at the county fair.'

"And then they all took hold of the monster melon and carried it to the road, where they put it on a wagon and started for the fair. Little Rastus, who was still inside the melon, had heard what the men said and was very frightened, but he kept quiet and was soon sound asleep. When he awoke the melon was at the county fair and was being admired by lots of people. They were all around it, but as yet no one knew that inside was a little colored boy, for the outside looked just as if it had not been disturbed at all. Rastus lay very quiet in his queer house, and finally who should he hear talking but his father and mother, who had come to the fair in hopes they might find their missing son. His mother was crying, too, and he heard her say that the melon reminded her so much of her lost son. At last Rastus could stand it no longer, and he jumped right out and into his mother's arms. Oh, how surprised and glad she was to see him! And when the people learned that he had lived two weeks in a watermelon they gave him a lot of money, and he went home very happy."

BRAKEMAN RECEIVES A BAD INJURY

Clifford E. Harris, a well-known Baltimore and Ohio brakeman of this city, was the victim of an unfortunate accident Thursday evening, by which he will be crippled for life. He was coming east on the C. & N. local, in charge of Conductor Harry Conners, and on the arrival of the train at Central City about 4:20 o'clock he started to pole three cars on the eastbond main track, in order to get them back of the engine, when the pole slipped and struck him, knocking him under the engine, the wheels of which cut off a part of his right foot. The injured man was brought to this city, taken from the train at Sixth street and placed in Bower's ambulance, which conveyed him to his home on Granville street, where his injuries were attended to.

IN THE SIERRA MADRE

TARAHUMARI INDIAN RUNNERS OR DESPATCH BEARERS

BRIDGE ON THE K.C.M AND O

ARTHUR E. STILWELL

Most Remarkable Figure in the Transportation Field Now Turns Author—Writes to Justify Higher Rates and to Picture Railroad Builders as the Greatest Benefactors of the Nation—Lambastes Bear Raiders of the Stock Exchange, Although He Has Built Two Great Railroads Without Ever Going to Wall Street, the Only Case of the Kind in Railroad History—Personally Raised $40,000,000—Started Life as a Printer.

ARTHUR E. STILWELL, the most remarkable figure in the transportation world, has written a book. He was the builder and the president of the Kansas City, Pittsburg & Gulf Railroad, now known as the Kansas City Southern, one of the great north and south lines of the Middle West. Now he is building the Kansas City, Mexico & Orient Railway, which is the shortest route by 400 miles from the Missouri River to the Pacific. This new Pacific line will be finished in two or three years. About 850 miles of its track has been laid and is in operation. The two ends are built, but there are gaps between of about 650 miles.

Mr. Stilwell's book, the title of which is "Confidence or National Suicide?" is not likely to be the season's "best seller," but it is unique in that it is the plain, outspoken opinion of one of America's great captains of industry, not only in regard to one of the leading questions of the day but in respect to some other big men. Wall Street will be intensely interested in it. Investors will read it from cover to cover. The general public is not likely to find it so absorbing. It is a protest against the present attitude of the American people toward the railroads. It is a plea for higher railroad rates. It is a tribute to the railroad builders, who Mr. Stilwell considers the greatest benefactors of the nation. It is a justification of "water" in securities, but Mr. Stilwell makes the distinction that much of what is termed "water" really is enhancement of values and is justified. He lambasts the bear raiders of Wall Street, denouncing them as enemies to prosperity and destroyers of confidence. He has a chapter entitled "Grabitis," in which he draws a picture of the money-mad man in finance. The person who reads this chapter is likely to believe that Mr. Stilwell had E. H. Harriman in view when he wrote it. He suggests remedies for the present unsettled condition of affairs in America. Among other things he proposes a corporation court and that traffic rates shall be fixed for fifteen years. But above all he makes the plea, "Let us be fair."

It is a rare thing for a railroad president to become an author, and the strange thing about Mr. Stilwell is that while he has built two of the great railroads of the United States he constructed them without the aid and practically in defiance of Wall Street. He never sold a share of his securities in the New York Stock Exchange. It is the only case on record in America. He never has had anything to do with the New York Stock Exchange. He never bought a share or sold a share of any stock on margin. His railroads have been built as business enterprises, and have been operated as such. They have had no speculative attendants.

Mr. Stilwell is as proud of his book as a man is of his firstborn. He say it is selling like hot cakes. In the next edition he is going to have a chapter on "Water," in which he will show how large a part the alleged "water" has played in the development of the railroads.

Of all the great railroad men of America, New Yorkers probably know Arthur E. Stilwell the least, and yet he has been in and around New York a good deal. He is Eastern born. His grandfather was one of the builders of the Erie Canal and of the New York Central Railroad, and one of the great railroad and transportation developers of his time. Young Stilwell was the pet of this old railroad man, and from his childhood was his companion. As a boy Arthur Stilwell never played—he knew none of the games of childhood. He was an invalid almost from birth. He had to be carried around on a pillow. There is no evidence of this now, for he is a magnificent specimen of manhood. He is 51 years old and looks to be 40. He has the frame of a college athlete and the clear skin and strong eye of the clean-living man. What education he has he picked up out of books and papers, for he went to school only two terms. He is not a rich man, but he has a genius for raising money. When he was 14 years old his father met with business reverses in the Titusville oil field, and said to him one day:

"Arthur, I cannot furnish you with tailor-made clothes and fine linen any more. I haven't the money to provide them."

The boy told the father that he never would need to buy anything for him again, and he did not. The lad went to Rochester and, with some money he had saved out of what sums his grandfather had given him, he bought a printing plant and started in as a commercial printer. While the journeymen looked after the jobs the boy, Stilwell, went out and solicited the business. By the time he was 15 years old he had obtained so much business for his plant that he attracted the attention of other concerns, and he was engaged as a commercial traveler by a law blank publishing company—on the road at 15. He traveled up and down the Erie and the New York Central lines and did a big business. Next he was engaged by a Baltimore concern of printers and traveled for them in the Carolinas and Virginia. When he was 19 he was making between $2,000 and $3,000 a year, and he got married. Then he went West. In Kansas City he rented a printing office, put all his wonderful energy into it and made money from the first. But his health gave way and he had to give up the business. Printing was too confining. He moved to Chicago and became the representative of two or three stationery houses there as salesman.

All this time he had been thinking of railroads, railroads, railroads. The blood of his grandfather was strong in his veins. His grandfather always had talked to him as if he was a grown man, even when Arthur Stilwell was only a wee chap. He took the lad with him into conferences with financiers, contractors and others. The old man always treated the boy as an equal. The boy was fed on business and statistics and finance. To-day there is no man in the United States who can get at the heart of a complicated mass of statistics quicker and surer than Mr. Stilwell.

But although he thought continually about railroads he was not yet ready to embark in railroading as a career. He was tired of the drudgery of the printing business and of selling stationery. He began to study life insurance. That fascinated him for a few years. He became assistant State agent of the Travelers' Insurance Company in Illinois, and invented a new policy which was the first coupon policy ever issued in the insurance field. This was so great a success that within two years after its introduction, 60 per cent. of all the business that was done by the Travelers' was through this policy. Its success was so great that they made Stilwell State agent for Connecticut and Rhode Island. He also invented another policy which was adopted by the Penn Mutual and which was remarkably successful.

But he was still thinking of railroads, railroads, railroads, and at 27 he amazed the insurance people by resigning and announcing that he was going to become a railroad man. He was making $1,600 or $8,000 a year and his income was increasing rapidly. He had saved up quite a bit of money and had a fair amount of royalties coming to him, so he started West again. Once more he landed in Kansas City. The Belt line that has done so much for the railroads of that great transportation centre was built by Arthur E. Stilwell. He financed this project by raising the money from the insurance people with whom he had been working. Once the Belt line was built he turned his attention to a new enterprise. The railroads running east and west had a monopoly of the great traffic beyond the Mississippi. They fixed the rates on grain, on packing house products, on ore and on all the other great commodities and staples of Kansas, Nebraska, Iowa and the mining States of the Far West. It was further from the Missouri River to the Atlantic seaboard than it was from Kansas City to the Gulf. The surplus products of the Middle West go, in a large measure, across the ocean.

In 1892 Stilwell began building the Kansas City, Pittsburg & Gulf, which was practically the air line from Kansas City to the Gulf of Mexico—500 miles. The road is better known to-day as the Kansas City Southern. There was not much trouble about constructing the first hundred miles, but when he got that far the panic of '93 hit him. To build the next ten miles was a horror. It required more application, more time, more energy, more persistence to raise the money for this little bit of track than it did for the next 200 or 300 miles. When he neared the Gulf, it was doubtful whether he was going to seek an outlet at New Orleans or at Galveston. He did not go to Galveston because he made up his mind that that city was in danger of destruction by a tidal wave. Huntington, Gould and others blocked his way to New Orleans, and there was not a port for him to go to. So he built a landlocked harbor of his own out in the cow pastures on the shore of Lake Sabine, and he brought the Gulf of Mexico up into his harbor. He had a terrific fight to do it, for at one time there were thirty-five lawsuits blocking him. Two of these suits were carried to the Supreme Court of the United States. But he won and the city of Port Arthur, named in his honor, a good sized city to-day, a seaport doing an immense traffic, is one of the monuments of his energy.

The Kansas City, Pittsburg & Gulf Railroad represents an investment of $23,000,000. To build that road and to construct the Kansas City, Mexico & Orient, Mr. Stilwell personally has raised $40,000,000.

The writer of this story knew Mr. Stilwell in Texas in the days when he was having the great struggle to establish Port Arthur, in the days when he was bringing over from Holland colonies of Dutchmen to make homes on the prairie around Port Arthur and around New Netherlands, in the days when he established the wonderful agricultural experimental station at New Netherlands which is one of the greatest in the United States. The Stilwell of to-day is no different from the Stilwell of those days. He looks just as young and has every bit as much energy. The fact that he lost the Kansas City Southern and that it fell into the hands of Gates, Harriman and Gould, does not seem to have fazed him a bit. The day he lost control of the Kansas City Southern he conceived the idea for the Kansas City, Mexico & Orient and began to plan it. He doesn't believe in idling.

Mr. Stilwell was asked how it was that he had managed to finance two such great projects as the Kansas City Southern and the Kansas City, Mexico and Orient without the aid and without paying tribute to Wall Street.

"So long as I don't need Wall Street, why should I go to it?" Mr. Stilwell replied. "If you were an electrician and you wanted some little electrical work done in your house would you call in another electrician to do it? You would do it yourself. That is the way it is with me. When I was in the insurance business I made a great number of acquaintances, men of substance, acumen and courage. I know thousands of such men. I love railroading. I like to do my own work myself. Doing it is a pleasure. Why should I pay some one in Wall Street to finance a railroad proposition when I can raise the money through my own efforts? It would be waste."

He was asked why it was he had been so sweeping in his denunciation of the bears of Wall Street, seeing he had nothing to do with Wall Street.

"I have no complaint against the honest man who sells stocks or sells short. I don't know anything about Wall Street methods, generally speaking, but what I do inveigh against and what I strike at strongly in my book is the man who attacks credit, the man who builds on falsity to destroy the man who tears down and who does widespread injury. That is the type of bear raider who should be checked. The methods these men employ to destroy credit are criminal. They have a license that is beyond understanding. Their methods are reprehensible in the extreme. The public has no conception of the injury they do. It is not the speculator but the legitimate property interests that suffer lasting harm is done. I never have sold or bought a share of stock on margin in my life, and I don't intend to.

"I haven't written my book for Wall Street, but particularly for the public. I think the American people have a wrong conception of the railroad situation, and I think there are things in the book that will be illuminating and enlightening. Unless the attitude of antagonism and the baiting of railroads stop we will have financial unrest, if not panics, just so long as the present attitude continues. It is a time to be fair. It is a time to be fair to the railroads particularly. I have no Stock Exchange interests and no axes to grind, and I think I can speak impartially. I do not believe the public has any conception of what the railroads have done in the enhancement of values in America. I do not believe the public appreciates the genius of the men who have developed the great transportation lines of America. I do not believe the American people know the safeguards that have been thrown around investments in other countries or they would safeguard investments in this country. I do not believe the American people mean to be unfair, and I do not believe present conditions will continue after the American people understand the situation. But the quicker they understand conditions and rectify them the better it will be for the Nation."

One of the most interesting features of Mr. Stilwell's book is the chapter in which he pays a tribute to James J. Hill. He tells the story of the building of the Great Northern and what it meant in money values to the Northwest. The figures he gives are startling. He declares that through the building of the Great Northern Railroad Mr. Hill increased land values at least $6,000,000,000, and that the value of labor that this railroad brought into commission amounts to $300,000,000 annually. Aside from these two items, he says, there is a third benefit which might be overlooked, but which is by no means negligible, and that is the opportunity he offered for a safe investment of foreign and domestic capital in new industries.

There is a chapter in the book in which Mr. Stilwell tells some stories of Diaz that are delightful. Probably no American railroad man has had more dealings or more intimate relations with the President of Mexico than has Mr. Stilwell. From the anecdotes in this book the reader is likely to have a good deal of respect, if not admiration, for the wonderful old man who rules over the republic to the south of us.

The Kansas City, Mexico & Orient road runs almost in an air line from Kansas City to Topolobampo, Mexico, in the Gulf of California. Mr. Stilwell got for this line the greatest concession ever given by Mexico. When the road is finished it is likely to play a big part in transcontinental traffic and transpacific commerce, for it will be the short line. Aside from through freight, the great thing is the opening up of immense stretches of virgin territory in Oklahoma, western Texas and Mexico.

ONLY DEALS WITH PLUTOCRATS

"Our business is unlike any other," said the substantial looking, smartly dressed man down in the Wall Street section. "We sell country estates to multi-millionaires. It is seldom we bother with anything under twenty-five acres. In a way we're like the men that sell railroad bridges; we make few sales, but those we do make are good ones.

"The essentials for our business are a small suite of offices—no one ever comes to see us there—a telephone and also phones at the homes of my partner and myself, and a bright, quick-witted, resourceful, pleasant voiced young woman, who is a stenographer-secretary and who always knows where to find us. Staying in our offices is a waste of time; we must mix in with people, with the big men in the city and in the country, make ourselves personally well known and liked and incidentally pop into a man's ear, unobtrusively, but in a way he'll remember, that we have sites for country seats to sell.

"I don't suppose either my partner or myself is in our offices six hours a week altogether. A good many days we never come into the city at all. Both of us live out in the country in the midst of our properties, you might say. But our girl always knows where to put her finger on us. It would very rarely happen she couldn't get in touch with one or the other of us within a couple of hours at the very worst.

"In this business you've got to make everything easy for the big man you're selling property to. He hasn't the time to fuss over it. He has a clear idea of what he wants, and he thinks and acts quickly. You must be on hand when he wants you and you can't put him off like you can a little man. Our business would very nearly fall to the ground if it wasn't for our young woman, though. She knows the people worth while, and she'll move heaven and earth to get us at any moment and to do it in a way that will flatter the big man tremendously."

GRABITIS.

A Chapter from Mr. Stilwell's Book in Which He Pictures the Money-Mad American Financier.

ONE of the greatest faults of the American people may be termed, for want of a better word, "Grabitis," meaning that trait of grabbing, the "grab disease," which has of late had full sway in the United States.

It is grab, grab all the time until death calls the game. Suppose you do accumulate $100,000,000, or $16,000,000, or even $600,000. Is this not enough to take the energy out of any young man who inherits it?

While you were accumulating this wealth in what a mad rush you were living! What pleasure did you get out of life? Your family and children obtained only a cinematographic view of you; with your clubs, your meetings, your wife had only a hazy idea that she had a husband, and by keeping a photograph of you in each room retained a fairly accurate idea of your appearance.

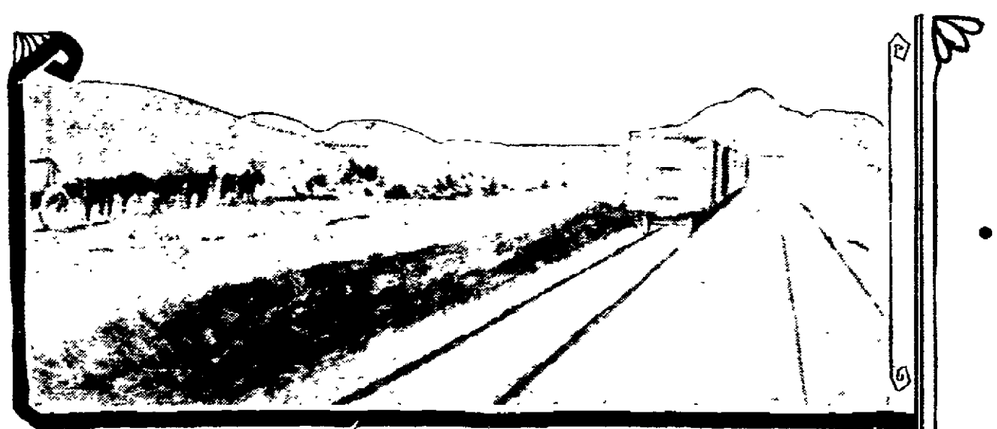

You acquired the C. & F. Railroad; then you bought the majority of the stock of the L. F. & W. and froze out a minority of the stockholders, by passing the dividends and pretending that you were upbuilding the road; at last you forced them out, or nearly, for a small price. When your squeeze was finished you started dividends by a well-arranged pool, pushed the stock up to nearly par, from about forty; this made for you perhaps $4,000,000, which was one-half fair business dealings, and half plain highway robbery. Perhaps it is not just to cast such a slur on the highway robbers; they were brave men and took their lives in their hands; you were a sneak and sandbagged the minority in a way they could not resent. But this $4,000,000 enabled you to buy a large interest in the P. M. & F. Railroad; you were elected on the directorate; why in thunder you wanted this, God only knows! but the "Grabitis" possessed you and you grabbed. By this time you were elected to boards of twenty banks and trust companies, not for the benefit that you conferred upon the stockholders, but because you thought that, as a director, you could borrow more with less chance of being "called" in case you got into a hole. You soon were director in such a lot of banks and trust companies that you needed a secretary to tell you when the meetings occurred, and you nearly required roller skates on which to glide around from one meeting to another, in time to pocket the ten or twenty dollar fees. By coming in late you attracted attention and it appeared to your fellow directors that you were in demand, and that it was an honor for them to be on the same boards with you. Every time there was a money squeeze you were just two points ahead of "a fit," since your assets were spread out thin as molasses in fly time.

Doubtless you worked hard and now and then had to take a cocktail and a few whiskies to keep up the pace, but you had "Grabitis" and you could not stop to rest; you were a human steam roller, and, like adverse Fate, crushed those in your path. Then came a year when things looked blue; you took a house at Newport for the season in order to bluff your banks, and you rushed through the year, not once breaking a cog of the wheel of your plans.

Next, stocks were depressed! You tried to grab one more railroad, but some one with a "Grabitis" case eclipsing yours got ahead of you; it worried you; you felt the loss of prestige; you slept poorly; took more whisky and soda, etc. Soon there came a day when a string in your make-up snapped; you stayed around the house and sent word that you were feeling fine, but would take a month or two of rest; in a week or so all the strings were snapping and it was all over.

In twenty years not a person on earth, excepting son or daughter, will ever know that you existed; they will now and then point to your picture and say, "That was father—he was a wonder in his day!"

Is it worth it? You were merely a human cash register; just a machine in which to drop dollars to be added up correctly.

POULTRY CIRCUIT FORMED

A meeting was held in this city at which representatives of the Fanciers' Associations of Newark, Lancaster, Cambridge and Zanesville, were present. It was called for the purpose of forming an organization looking toward the holding of a joint show by the associations of the cities mentioned. At the meeting a temporary organization was formed and elected the following officers. President Leonard Essman, Newark; secretary, F. C. Closter, Zanesville.

It was decided to ask the associations of Coshocton and Mt. Vernon to join the organization.

The plan considered is to hold a large show at some one of the towns mentioned. The shows in all the towns have hitherto been a success and it is thought that a large show would be a good thing for all parties concerned.

RECORD FOR DISCUS THROW.

Joliet, Ill., Sept. 16.—Although he threw the discus 140 feet 1 inch, thus breaking the world's record, Merritt Giffin, who was a member of the Olympian team which contested in London, will not endeavor to have his throw recognized as a new record. Giffin made the throw here yesterday in an unscheduled contest.

AU REVOIR STRAW HATS

Still wearing that straw lid? If you are you'd better get rid of it for if you don't some friend may wreck it for you and there is no law whereby you can prosecute him. The season for the hay hats went out yesterday and the time for the derbies and felts has arrived.

The first of September is supposed to see the passing of the summer headgear and by the best dressers this is followed out, but custom and good weather has in many instances stretched the time to the 15th of the month.

Many a straw hat that was worn to the Elks outing yesterday disappeared mysteriously and the men who had worn the hats came back to Newark bareheaded for every straw hat was broken up at some time during the day.

Y. M. C. A. TO START CAMPAIGN FOR IMPROVEMENTS

Thursday evening the campaign for Y. M. C. A. building improvement and current expenses was determined on at a meeting of team captains and workers held in the building at supper time. The actual work will begin Monday, the 19th, with a meeting at lunch of the teams. This will be in the association building, and will continue for five days. Every day the teams and captains will lunch together making reports of progress and the showing of each will go on the campaign chart. Seven teams are to begin, and it is possible that more will materialize later. Team No. 1, Captain E. S. Randolph, No. 2 Captain C. H. Davis, No. 3 Captain J. A. Flory, Team No. 4 Captain J. N. Pugh, No. 5 Captain Rev. J. A. Bennett. Citizens Team Captain F. C. Evans, who is also general chairman of the campaign, and pioneers team Captain C. C. Metz. There is likely to be a lot of friendly rivalry to see which team can make the best showing each day and for the entire time. It is the plan to do the work in five days, closing Friday night at 9 o'clock.

A good supper was served by a committee of ladies led by Mrs. Thomas Warner and Rev. Mr. Warner offered a brief prayer. Following the supper short talks were made by Secretary Fraser, Mr. J. D. Van Scoten of Columbus, Mr. B. B. Williams of Mt. Vernon, Dwight L. Rogers and the new member of the Y. M. C. A. State force, F. C. Evans, C. H. Davis, J. A. Flory, E. S. Randolph and others. Mr. B. B Williams proposed that Newark join in the "State-Wide" movement for raising $100,000 for endowment of the State Y. M. C. A. work, so that they could more efficiently serve the local associations. Newark's proportion was thought to be $1,000 of $500 a year for two years. This added to the $5,000 needed for local expenses and building improvement would make the aim of the campaign $5,500 a year for two years.

The body of men unanimously voted to join in recommending that the trustees join in the "State-Wide" movement. J. W. Van Scoten told a most interesting story of how several associations discouraged and ready to close their doors had through the encouragement and help of the State committee been revived, their financial and other troubles solved and the work started with new vim by means of the scientific short time campaign enlisting a lot of new men and waking the entire community to a new sense of responsibility to the young men and boys of the place. Within ten months Mr. Van Scoten had gone through eight campaigns raising $850,000 for old debts, for remodeling and for new buildings.

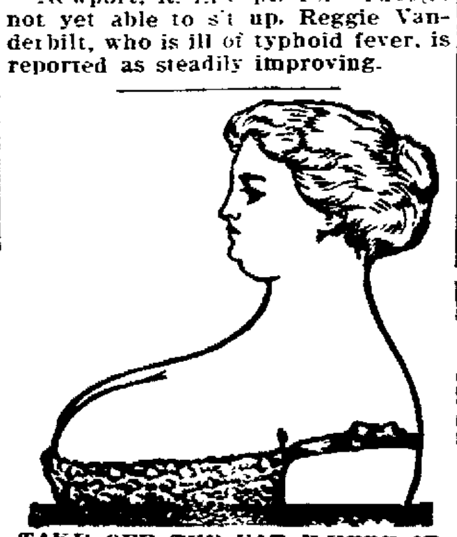

Every worker and every man willing to join one of the teams is invited to be present at the luncheon Monday at 11:15 o'clock. Mrs. C. L. Wyeth, assisted by a committee of ladies, will serve the lunch. From then until Friday things will be busy. The campaign headquarters will be in the south store room of the association building, which has just been vacated by the Jones-Wesson Shoe Company.

"JACKPOTTERS" RETURNED.

LOOSE LEAF LEDGERS ARE TIME SAVERS

Comparatively few business houses have as yet adopted the loose leaf system in taking care of their accounts. Business men as a rule do not pay the attention they ought to this end of the business. Many firms are ruined just because of the lack of system in taking care of their accounts. Many have the idea that there is something complicated about a Loose Leaf system, and hesitate about adopting it. They do not stop to think that they can save time and money by using a loose leaf ledger or other loose leaf books in their business. They may only save a few minutes each day, for example, we will say 20 minutes, each day. It does not look large, yet 20 minutes multiplied by 300 working days amounts to 10 days of 10 hours each. Enough to give the bookkeeper a vacation which in nine cases out of ten would be of more benefit to the firm than anyone else.

Lose leaf ledgers are being adopted by the more progressive business houses all over the country. There are no reasons why every merchant or professional man in Newark should not have a loose leaf ledger in which to keep his accounts. They are no different from the old style bound books, as they can be locked so no one can take a sheet out of the book except the person having the key without tearing or cutting out the leaf, at least that is the way the Majestic Loose Leaf Ledger, made by the Advocate Printing Company, is constructed. The Advocate will be pleased to show those interested in the Loose Leaf Ledgers and Filing devices.

RETURNED FROM TRAINING.

BOARDER WAS TOUCHED FOR A BIG ROLL

A nervy thief made a good haul at the boarding house of Mrs. Anna Repka, 790 denroe street Friday morning, when he entered the house and stole a pocket book belonging to a border that contained $50. The police were notified at once and are at work on the case.

A stranger came to the boarding house Friday morning, and asked for some salt and while the landlady was in the kitchen getting the desired seasoning the thief sneaked around the side of the house and entering another door, stole the pocketbook of a boarder. Mrs. Repka is a Hungarian, and could barely make her wants known to the police.

OFFICER CALLAN PREVENTED WOMAN FROM SUICIDING

In a highly nervous condition after a quarrel with her husband Thursday afternoon, Mrs. Henry Thrailkill, 139 Oakwood avenue, attempted to commit suicide Friday morning and was only prevented from doing so by the prompt arrival of Patrolman James Callan, who snatched a revolver from her hand after she had fired one shot that missed her body.

Mrs. Thrailkill, according to story told by the police, had a quarrel with her husband who was formerly a saloonist of this city but who now lives in Columbus. She had been to that city Thursday and returned home last night in bad shape.

Friday morning, her actions were so peculiar that neighbors watched her and finally called the police after they saw her with a revolver. Before firing the shot with which she meant to end her life she set fire to the curtains and the couch in her room and in other ways acted like an insane person.

Patrolman Callan was sent to the Thrailkill home and he dashed up the stairs and into her room just as she snapped the pistol the second time, but the cartridge was an old one and the hammer fell harmlessly just as the policeman snatched the weapon from her hand. He extinguished the fire and watched over the woman until Dr. R. G. Downs arrived and gave her medical attention.

AMUSEMENTS

KEITH VAUDEVILLE.

The keith bill at the Auditorium Theater changed Thursday evening, and the bill will be seen here for the remainder of the week.

The show opens with the Aerial Wilsons in acrobatic work which is done on a revolving ladder. The male member of the team appears as a clown, and introduces the comedy.

The Corton Comedy Four have several popular songs and parodies, and have a lot of slap stick comedy. In the last number "The Billiken Man," the baby member of the troupe appears dressed as a billiken.

Brenton and Runkle are seen in a sketch called "Too Many Wives," in which the lady member does some quick change work. Aldin Clifton and Company also delineate comedy in a little playlet, and the feature act is Guy M. Dailey, in his swimming feats and diving. Mr. Dailey was unable to appear last evening owing to an accident to the plate glass front of the 1,000 gallon tank that he uses in his swimming and diving. However, he will give his act to-day.

THE ORPHEUM.

Large business still continues at this cozy little theater, and the audiences are giving each act much attention during their stay in our city. De Rosas cats and dogs, along with Mr. Dooley, are proving a drawing card for the little ones, and no doubt all the children of the city will visit the Orpheum Saturday afternoon, as Mr. Dooley has issued a special invitation for all who wish to come upon the stage and greet him. This will take place after the matinee to-morrow. Frank Walsh, the comedian, is getting laughs at each performance. Madame Sidonie is still dancing into the hearts of the local public. Mr. and Mrs. Friel with their clever sketch are making many friends, and the hit of the program, the Howard Brothers, are going bigger than ever. Their playing is heartily encored at each performance, and their juggling is still the talk of the town. Starting with the matinee Monday another very clever program is to be offered with the American Trumpeters, the best of all musical acts, as the headliners. Jerome and Jerome will present a clever little novelty, "The Fisherman and the Eccentric Frog." In Shorty Edwards we have the smallest comedian in vaudeville, and Leon McReynolds and Co. will present a sketch new to Newark called "When the Sun Rises."

SOUTHERN THEATER, COLUMBUS.

Those who closely follow the great musical events of the day undoubtedly know of the remarkable success attained by the musical lyric comedy, "Theresa, Der Nacht Bosse" in Paris and other continental cities. The book is by Paul Herve, the music of setting by Jean Briquet, authors of "Anna, Wo Wohnst Du?" and the English adaptation was made by Adolf Philipp. In this country the piece will be called "Theresa, Be Mine," and will be seen for the first time at the Southern theater Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, with a Wednesday matinee, September 19th, 20th and 21st.

Richard Brown, known to every theater goer as a character actor of unusual distinction, and Tillie Magrane, whose success in the last six months has been anything less than phenomenal, are the leaders of the cast of "The Spendthrift," the Frederick Thompson production which comes to the Southern theater Thursday, Friday and Saturday with a Saturday matinee, September 22nd, 23rd and 24th. The play is by Porter Emerson Browne, and is just concluding a five months' engagement at the Hudson theater, New York. Newspaper reviews of "The Spendthrift" have declared it to be one of the plays of the decade and it, more than anything else, has served to establish Mr. Browne as a leader among American playwrights. "The Spendthrift" theme is domestic extravagance. It tells the story of a hard-working [illegible] and a "butterfly wife" whose inability to understand her husband's business, or to sympathize with his ambition and desires, brings about a condition of tragedy which is only averted by the arising of the situation that verges upon catastrophe. Incidentally the subject of race suicide is touched upon and in a way that would bring joy to the heart of Theodore Roosevelt.

THOUGHT PROCESS WILL BE SHOWN BY MOVING PICTURES

It will so possible to watch the process of thought on the moving picture screen. By new apparatus which is now being perfected the man of science will be able to suggest an idea to his patient and then observe the changes of [illegible] upon thinking. So says Dr. Max Baff, professor of psychology in Clark university, Worcester, Mass. Baff makes known that a device is now in preparation by which the tiny brain cells may be magnified 54,000 times, making thought actually visible to the eye.

Light will be thrown on the problems of crime by this new achievement, he thinks, and the mystery of the two great extremes in the mental scale, the brain of the genius and the brain of the idiot, will be solved.

Dr. Baff is now in correspondence with a scientist in Buenos Ayres who is constructing the device to be attached to the X-ray apparatus by which the cells of the brain may be magnified.

STRAND MAGAZINE.

The October Strand Magazine contains a story by Conan Doyle entitled "The Marriage of the Brigadier." In this strong piece of fiction the author returns to one of his most popular characters—Etienne Gerard, the famous "Hussar of Conflans." "Some day it may comfort you," says the brave Brigadier, "to know that even Etienne Gerard has known what it is to be afraid. I will tell you now how this experience befell me, and also how it brought me a wife." The story is a comedy and written in Doyle's most fascinating style.

ATTEND THE HOME COMING

William Gerlach returned Friday evening from attending the homecoming at Bellville, Richland county. "Bill" states that he had a great time and would not have missed meeting the many friends of his youth. He witnessed a baseball contest between ex-leaguers of Mansfield and his home town boys which resulted in a victory for the latter by a score of 1 to 0. The principal product of Bellville is ball players and William himself is a graduate of the sand lots in that village but gave up the profession when his throwing arm went back on him. Hardesty, Hahn, Armour, Holmquist and "Bill" met in the corner grocery night before last and fought over battles in which they had participated many years ago but it is a safe bet that none of the "done" equaled that of the time that "Bill" knocked a home run by swatting the ball into the cab of a railway engine while it was under full speed.

LOCAL ELKS LAST OUTING OF SEASON

The last outing of the season for the local lodge of Elks was held Thursday at Beech Island, Buckeye Lake, and it was the best of the year. The weather was ideal and there was a large crowd present. At noon an elegant dinner was served by Caterer Kuster which consisted of clam chowder, soft shelled crabs, spring chicken, roasting ears and other good things of the season.

A special car carried the majority of the Elks to the lake at 9 o'clock, but during the day each car carried a number bound for the "doings" and the crowd was one of the largest that ever attended an outing. The day was spent in various ways and a good time was enjoyed by all present.

ENROLLMENT AT DENISON EXCEEDS EXPECTATION

Dr. Frank Shepardson of the University of Chicago Delivered Excellent Address Friday Morning ---News of Granville and Near Vicinity.

Granville, O., Sept. 16.—Previous estimates given out regarding the anticipated attendance at Denison University have been made good by the very large registration, which practically closed the latter part of last week. An Advocate reporter in conversation with one of the members of the faculty of Denison was told that the registration far exceeded the expectations of the most sanguine, and that students from the furthermost parts of the United States and outside of the United States have enrolled their names on the books of old Denison. Exercises were held in the chapel on Thursday for the first time. The religious exercises were conducted by Rev. E. W. Hunt, who is in the best of health after his sojourn in the wilds of Canada, and Miss Cox, who has been employed as the new teacher of vocal music, sang a most beautiful solo, which was greatly appreciated by those who had the pleasure of hearing it.

Miss Theresa Holmes, who has been enjoying a most delightful visit with relatives and friends n Granville and vicinity for some days, returned to her home in Miamisburg, O., on Friday.

Miss Maggie Williams, after a pleasant visit with Granville friends, has returned to her home in Columbus.

Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Willey of near Tama, Iowa, who have been visiting here for some time, have returned to their western home. Mr. and Mrs. Willey formerly resided a short distance west of Granville, but removed to Iowa some years ago, where they have since been making their home. They have many friends in this part of the county who were glad to meet them again.

After a short visit with friends in Granville Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Stover have returned to Springfield.

Many a young man does not know what real sorrow is until he has lost his mother. When it is everlastingly too late he discovers that the best friend he has ever had is gone. No man can ever repay the gentle mother for the care and love lavished upon him when he was young and helpless, and later when sick and suffering nothing but the most consistent tenderness and gentle care can ever, in even a measure, repay the aged parents for what they have done for the offspring of their marriage. Bear this in mind, young man, as you see your father and mother tottering tremblingly along on the borders of the spirit world.

The prospects are excellent for a first-class football team in Denison this year. A number of good men that last year were of the freshman class and were therefore ineligible, will be on the team this year.

Granville is very much on the map as a stopping place for auto tourists. Scarcely a day passes but one or more parties out for a long-distance pleasure trip stop at Granville for dinner or supper, and get a tank of gasoline or other supplies for their machines, and the word is passed along to other touring parties when they meet.

The students of Denison University and the members of the faculty of the college Friday morning listened to a most excellent address delivered by Dr. Frank W. Shepardson of the University of Chicago. The address was delivered in the chapel which was crowded with the students, who are all great admirers of Dr. Shepardson, and who never neglect an opportunity to hear him. His address Friday morning was listened to with the greatest interest, and was heartily applauded by all who had the pleasure of hearing it. No man who ever went out from old Denison and achieved distinction is more welcome in Granville or has a larger host of friends than Dr. Frank W. Shepardson. He has the most happy faculty of getting close to his audience, at once winning their sympathies and persuading them to his point of view.

Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Marion, prosperous farming people of Lucas county, O., who have been visiting relatives and friends here for a few days, returned home Friday.

Otis King, field superintendent of the Ohio Fuel Company, after having been confined to his home for a few days with a severe attack of rheumatism, is reported as being considerably improved at this writing.

Mr. Wilbur S. White, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sherman White of South Walnut street, left Monday morning for Granville, O., where he will resume his studies at Denison University. His sister, Miss Mildred B., a graduate of this year's class at B. H. S., will leave Wednesday for the college to take up a year's course.—Bucyrus Forum.

Walter Humpton, a former Denison man, was a guest at the Ferguson-Fulton wedding in Newark on Thursday.

Dr. R. C. Colwell, who has just returned from his vacation in the east, will occupy the pulpit of the Methodist Church on Sunday, taking the place of the pastor, the Rev. W. H. Miller who has been in Logan, O., in attendance at the Methodist Conference. Dr. Colwell is an unusually fine speaker, and his sermon will be of great interest.

The many friends of Mr. Harry Burkham will be sorry to learn that he has been confined to his home for some days on account of severe illness.

The Baptist Church, which has been undergoing repairs all summer at the hands of Mr. Charles Watkins, the well-known painter and decorator, is now in readiness for occupancy, the repairs having all been completed. The church throughout now presents a most beautiful and attractive appearance. The entire interior has been repainted and varnished and decorated, and now looks like another church. The decorations especially are much admired, being the handsomest ever seen in the village. Mr. Watkins surely deserves much credit for the work he has put on the church.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Sheppard and son, James, of Grand Rapids, Mich., and Mr. and Mrs. James R. Hopley of Bucyrus, O. are expected as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Sheppard to-day or to-morrow.

Regular services will be held at St. Luke's Episcopal Church on Sunday, conducted by the rector, A. Ramsey. Morning sermon, "Regeneration:" Sunday school at 11 o'clock Evening topic: "Rich Man and Lazarus." This is the third of the series on parables.

Mrs. G. P. Riebel, who has been the guest of her father, Captain Scott, for the past three weeks, left the forepart of the week for New York, where she will join her husband, Dr. Riebel, who has been studying during the past few months.

The members of the Winter Picnic club were delightfully entertained by Mrs. Wiliam Geach Wednesday afternon at her home on Burg street.

Mr. R. P. McCann, who lives in Centerville, was the recipient of a delightful surprise on Wednesday evening by about forty of his friends, the occasion being the anniversary of his birth. Mrs. McCann was in the secret and prepared a fine supper, which was one of the features of the occasion. A most delightful evening was spent in music games and in having a good social time generally. It was an occasion that will not son be forgoten by Mr. McCann.

FAMOUS BATTERY TO TRY VAUDEVILLE

New York, September 16.—Christy Matthewson and "Chief" Meyers the star battery of the New York Giants, had to stand for a good deal of "kidding" today from their fellow players as the result of the announcement that they are going into "vodveel" not "vawdyville" understand. Following the lead of Mike Donlin, Joe Tinker "Red" Doyin and several others of the big league baseball family Christy and the "chief" have shied their castor into the Theatrical ring and will appear under the management of Wm Hammerstein in a sketch called "Curves," written by Bozeman Bulger, a New York baseball scribe whose "Swat Milligan" stories are well known.

Both men think that having withstood the gibes of the west side fans in Chicago, they have nothing to fear from theatre audiences. In the sketch Matthewson will throw a few real curves, Meyers will pull off an Indian dence and both will be assisted by a young actress who is said to be very pretty.

Some people only feel that they are in reduced circumstances when they can no longer borrow.

WYETH'S SAGE AND SULPHUR HAIR REMEDY

Here's the Proof

For two or three years my hair had been falling out and getting quite thin, until the top of my head was entirely bald. About four months ago I commenced using Sage and Sulphur. The first bottle seemed to do some good and I kept using it regularly, until now I have used four bottles. The whole top of my head is now fairly covered with hair and it keeps coming in thicker. I shall keep on using it a while longer, as I notice a constant improvement.

The birthright of every man, woman and child—a full, healthy head of hair. If your hair is falling, if it is full of dandruff, or if it is faded or turning gray, it is diseased and should be looked after without delay.

WYETH'S SAGE AND SULPHUR HAIR REMEDY, a true Hair Tonic and Restorer, removes dandruff in a few days, stops hair falling in one week, and starts a new growth in a month.

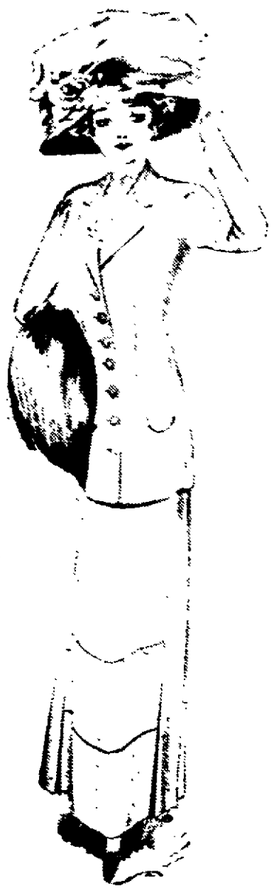

Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur does not soil the skin nor injure the hair; but it is an ideal hair dressing that will restore faded and gray hair to natural color and keep the hair soft and glossy.

CASHIER PREVENTED SWINDLE

P. H. Emswiler of Kirkersville Runs Up Against Check Worker, But Recovers $700 Advanced on Smooth Game.

P. H. Emswiler, cashier of the Kirkersville Savings Bank company, figured in a sensational deal on Wednesday and recovered $700 which a stranger had drawn out of the bank after he had left town on a train and was well on his way to Zanesville now.

Last Saturday a prosperous looking man called at the Kirkersville banking institution and deposited $100. Wednesday he again made his appearance and deposited a check for $2700, drawn on William Williams of Zanesville.

After he had deposited the check the stranger wrote a personal check for $800, signing his name as Frank Campbell and remarking to the bank officials that he was a real estate dealer of Zanesville and had negotiated for a piece of Kirkersville property belonging to a Mr. Long.

When Campbell drew the $800 he remarked that he was going to use it to make a part payment on the Long property, after which he left the bank. Shortly after Mr. Emswiler grew suspicious of the transaction and started after Campbell in a rig, overtaking him a short short distance west of the village. The cashier forced Campbell to give up $700 of the amount, the latter retaining $100 to cover the amount of the deposit which he made last Saturday.

After Mr. Emswiler had returned to Kirkersville he realized that he had made a mistake in not having Campbell detained, and started back after him, overtaking him for the second time, but no amount of eloquence on the part of Mr. Emswiler would induce Campbell to return with him and he drove back to Kirkersville, swore to a warrant for his arrest, and when he started for him the third time the fellow had disappeared and could not be found.

The Zanesville bank was communicated with and the Kirkersville officials were informed that they had no account with any William Williams.

ENGINEER SAVES LITTLE CHILD ON R. R. TRACK

DAUGHTER OF GEO. MARKLEY, AT COSHOCTON, HAD NARROW ESCAPE.

Coshocton, Sept. 16. — Engineer Charles Petit saved the life of the 3-year-old daughter of George Markley 648 Orange street, from a horrible death at 2:55 p. m., when he left his engine cab, ran out onto the pilot of his engine and grabbed the little girl, who was playing on the track in the path of the passenger train.

The only witness to the thrilling affair was the child's mother, who, glancing out of an upstairs window, saw the child on the tracks and the events which followed in quick succession. She almost swooned.

Mrs. Markley had left Mary for a moment in a room in the house while she went upstairs to dress.

The child stole from the house and walked out to the railroad where she sat down directly in the middle of the track. She sat there perhaps five minutes when the afternoon Wheeling, due at Coshocton at 2:55, north bound, came steaming down the tracks.

The little girl after the accident did not realize how near death she had been, but looked askance at the strange man who had interrupted her stolen play hour. The little child did not receive a scratch and the only evidence of her exciting accident was a small smudge of dirt or grease rubbed on the babe's hand from the jacket of her deliverer.

33-CENT GAS FOR KENTON.

Under the new ordinance the company reserves the right to sever its contract with the local company at any time upon 60 days' notice.
